

HOTEL HOTSHEET

Check it out before you check in

By Kitty Bean Yancey

This heartbreak hotel helps you get divorced

Or aids you in mediating a marriage on the skids.

With half of U.S. marriages ending in divorce, the Hotel Preston in Nashville has come up with an innovative plan to woo couples headed for splitsville. It's the "I do. I did. I'm done" package.

But first, you can try to save your marriage. Start with separate rooms on opposite ends of the hotel.

Then the two of you get an hour consultation with family lawyer (a list of attorneys is provided).

The hotel throws on a conference room for mediation. Rates depend on what you require -- rooms start in the $115 range this time of year.

And if things are looking up, there's an "Ooey gooey" package for one last good late-checkout time. This is a boutique hotel with an amazing marketing spin. How about a "Let's Make a Baby" package? Or a couple of martinis in the "Pink Slip" bar? The hotel even has a blog.

What do we think? Can a hotel help save a marriage? Or make the ending less painful? Thoughts, please.

Posted at 11:19 PM/ET, September 15, 2008 in Offbeat news | Permalink